DON'T DROWN YOURSELF FOR LOVE. The following, illustrative of sympathy, is from the pen of Bishop Heber:-

A knight and a lady once met in a grove,
While each was in quest of a fugitive love;
A river ran mournfully murmuring by, And they wept in its waters for sympathy.

"Oh never was knight such a sorrow that bore!" "Oh never was made so deserted before!"
"From life and its woes let us instantly fly, And jump in together for company !"

They searched for an eddy that suited the deed, But here was a bramble and there was a weed; "How tiresome it is!" said the fair, with a sigh; So they sat down to rest them in company.

They gaz'd on each other, the maid and knight; How fair was her form, and how goodly his height! *One mournful embrace? sobbed the youth, 'ere we One mournful embrace? sobbed the youth, 'ere we

"Oh had I but lov'd such an angel as you!" "Oh, had but my swain been a quarter as true!"
"To miss such perfection how blinded was I!"
Sure now they were excellent company."

At length spoke the lass, 'twixt a smile and a tear,
"The weather is cold for a watery bier;
When summer returns we may easily die, Till then let us sorrow in company !"

THE HUMAN HEART. The Human heart!-no mortal eve Hath seen its springs laid bare; A beauty and a mystery Is all that resteth there. In love how silently 'twill brood O'er feeling unconfessed— A bird that feeds in solitude

The youngling of its nest. Its hate is like volcanic fire! We reck not of its wrath, Till bursts the lava of its ire Around its scoreling path. Its friendship! oh! the blessed seeds It strews on Time's dark bowers-

That spring through misery's bitter weeds To crown life's cup with flowers. The heart's despair! - what simile Portraits its gloom aright!
It is the hell of memory—
Unutterable night!

Its boliness! a tree whose life Eternity supplies, And flocking to whose branches come The birds of paradise.

BE SOMETHING .- The following brief, but sensible article, which we copy from an English caper, contains excellent advice. We commend it in an especial manner to the attention of parents and

" It is the duty of every one to take some active part as an actor on the stage of life. Some seem to think that they can vegetate, as it were, with-out being any thing in particular. Man is not made to rust out his life. It is expected he should act well his part. He must be something. He has a work to perform, which it is his duty to attend to. We are not pinced here to grow up, pass the various stages of life, and then die without having done any thing for the benefit of our race. It is a principle in the creed of the Mohomedans that every one should have a trade. No Christain doctring could be better than that. Is a man to be brought up in idleness? Is he to live upon the wealth which his ancestors have acquired by frugal industry? Is he placed here to pass through life like an automaton? Has be no hing to perform as a citizen of the world? A man who does nothing is a mere cipher. He does not fulfil the obligations for which he was sent into the world; and when he dies he has not finished the that was given him to do. He is a mere blank in creation. Some are born with riches and honors upon their heads—but does it follow that they have nothing to do in their career through life? There are certain daties for every one to perform. Be something; don't live like a hermit, and die unregretted."

OLD MAIDS .- The spunky editor of the Philedelphia Times, thus speaks of these valuable house hold relies: "Aged but youthful—wrinkled but smooth faced—prudish but knowing—good tempered but touchy—ugly yet pretty—men hating still mannish—child nursing though childless—solemn though gay—witty though dull— they are at once the most entertaining and the most disagreeable of the sex feminine—the most most disagrecable of the sex feminine—the most unfathomable of all unfathomable things—and more deep and intricate in their character, than a volume of Scotch metaphysics.

WHIG NURSERY SOND -THE U. S. BANE. "Sing a song of sixpence, A pocket full of lies! And five and thirty millions All scattered to the skies When the Bank was opened; There was nothing in to show! Wasn't that a pretty thing, For 'Coperthwaite and Co?'"

This is infinitely better than the old wornout ditty about the black-birds, and will doubtless take its place in due time.

A small neglect often breeds great mischief-for want of a nail, the shoe is lost-for want of a shoe the horse is lost-for want of a horse the POWDER AND BALLS .- Let ancient or modern history be produced, they will not afford a more heroic display than the reply of Yankee Stonington to the British commanders. The people were piling the balls which the enemy had wasted, when the foe applied for them. " We want balls; will you sell them?" They answered; " We want power; send us powder, and we'll return your balls."

Good Advice. - Ye who are eating the apple dumplins and molasses of wealth, should not forget those who are sucking the herring bone of poverty."

ABOUT RIGHT .- Somehody who writes more truthfully than poetically says:

" An angel without money, is not thought so much of, now a days, as a devil with a bag full of guineas."

Love.-Sam Slick says that getting in love is somewhat like getting drunk, the more a fellow loves the more he wants to. Sam knows a thing or two.

O'T Toast drank at Erie, Pennsylvania, last fourth of July: Our noble selves .- As smiling as nature around as, but not so green."

Exactly.-Courting, says Ephraim, is done on printing principles; there being a good deat of hand press work about it.

Col. CRASE, of New Hampshire, at a recent military dinner in Boston, gave the following noble sentiment:

· Our country-however bounded and by whomsoever governed, it must be defended. War is not the greatest curse: dishonorable peace is greater." CHILDREN.—Children are great observers and imitators; hence they are frequently led astray by bad examples of parents, and by comparions at play.

LITERARY NOTICES.

Prospectus of the Ohio Statesman. THE undersigned respectfully announce to the DEMOCRACY OF OHIO, that they mve purchased of Col. SAMUEL MEDARY, all his interest in the Ohio Statesman newspaper, from and after the 1st of July, 1845. The paper will, as heretofore, advocate, unflinchingly, Democratic Principles and measures, nd give the strongest support to the reguarly nominated candidates of the Democratic Party, that it will be in the power of the undersigned to afford. To firmly support the National Administration-to maintain the right of this country to the territory of Oregon —to uphold the great doctrine of the sover reignty of the people, as contended for by the patriot Donn-to contend for the adjustment of the tariff in such a manner as shall do justice to the great Agricultural interest of the West-to labor for the settlement of the National Finance question in a way that shall prevent the public moneys from becoming the means of individual aggrandizement —and to strenuously support any messure calculated to make the laws of Ohio embodiments of the principles of Liberty and Equality, and to give to the State a sound currency;-hese are the objects which the undersigned propose to themselves in the new and arduous position which they have assumed. Their success must depend upon the amount and the character of the support which they shall receive at the hands of the Democracy of the great Empire State of the West, whose voice in the National Councils is so important, and whose example, in the management of their internal affairs, is destined to exert a vast influence upon all quarters of the Union, and particularly to give a character to the legislation of the new communities which are constantly arising, and demanding to be admitted to the rights and privileges enjoyed by the members of the confederacy. The undersigned have invested a large mount of capital in their present undertaking. They have brought to its support, whatever of talent and enterprise they possess. Their interest is identical with that of the West; and there is no incentive to exertion-no motive which can incite men to a faithful discharge of important duties-which is not moving them to labor for the good of that portion of the confederacy into whose hands he physical and moral powers of the nation are rapidly passing. Under these circumstances, they feel that they are privileged to ask for that support and to look for that confidence from the Democracy of Ohio, without which all their labors must be worse than performed in vain.

The undersigned propose making some mechanical improvements in the paper, which will render it more worthy the support of the public. A fair proportion of the paper will be devoted to miscellaneous reading and news matter.
